Learn to Use One-Way ANOVA in SPSS With Data From the Time Sharing Experiments for the Social Sciences (2004)
Learn to Use One-Way ANOVA in SPSS With Data From the Time Sharing Experiments for the Social Sciences (2004)

About This Dataset

Data Source Citation

Full title of originating dataset

Shame, Blame and Contamination: Mental Illness Stigma and the Family. Time-Sharing Experiments for the Social Sciences 2004

Data author(s) and affiliations

Patrick Corrigan
Illinois Institute of Technology

Amy Watson
University of Illinois at Chicago

Dataset source website address

http://www.tessexperiments.org/data/corrigan201.html
Funding sources/suppliers

NSF Grant 0818839

Sample/sampling procedures

Addressed Based Probability sample of panel members, with data collection via web survey.

Weighting

Weighting for selection probabilities and post stratification.

Data collection dates

03/26/2004–04/08/2004

Time frame of analysis

2004

Unit of analysis

Adult American Residents

Location covered by data

United States of America (contiguous states)

Links to SRM content

List of variables

condition

Health condition

shame

Q11. [John/Joan] should feel ashamed about [Frank’s/Fran’s] illness.

anger

Q5. I feel angry toward [Frank/Fran].